EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

It all started when our maid told my wife she would not come for work for a week. And, she also said that on return, she wanted a raise. My wife was shocked. However, like a seasoned boxer, she bounced back into combative mode. But instead of the obvious 'opponent', she chose me, the meeker sex. Standing between me and Breaking News, she declared, "Look! You are retired but I don't have that luxury. The least you can do is to help me during crisis situations. So from tomorrow, till the maid returns, you will take out the clothes from the washing machine and spread them on the clothesline." I was petrified. Quickly but humbly I reasoned with her: "But I don't know where the clothesline is... also I have never done such a thing in my entire life..." She brushed aside those arguments as if they are cobwebs and gave a solution: "Don't worry. I'll train you."

Patient gets tattoo of doctor who saved his life

Nano Salguero: A young cancer survivor from Argentina surprised the doctor for saving his life by gwtting a large tattoo of the surgical oncologist on his back.

Nano Salguero, a native of Alejo Ledesma, an Argentinian was diagnosed with colon cancer by a local oncologist. He was immediately referred to Hospital de Clinicas in the regional capital for emergency surgery, where he was operated on by Dr. Paul Lada, a surgical oncologist with 42 years of experience under his belt. Nano's operation was a success, and even though he is technically still in recovery, he recently showed his gratitude to Dr. Lada by sending him a photo of a large tattoo of his smiling face next to the hospital he works at that he had inked on his back.

However he clarified that he got the tattoo for himself, not for the doctor. In fact, he hadn't even planned on showing the inking to the oncologist, but after that his birthday was coming up, he decided to send him a photo.

Amazing food sculptures of Valeriano Fatica

Venice: It seems that there's no solid food that Italian talented artist Valeriano Fatica cannot sculpt into an incredibly detailed artwork.

Valeriano Fatica developed an interest in the arts from a very young age, but spent most of his time helping at his family's restaurant in Oratino, Italy, so he didn't have time to experiment with traditional mediums. Instead, he started expressing his artistic talent with what he had on hand, fruits and vegetables. Today, Fatica is considered one of the world's best food artists, and has several achievements to his name, like becoming the world's first and only truffle sculptor and creating the world's largest watermelon carving. Fatica says that watermelons remain his favorite medium, but can work with virtually any solid food, including parmesan cheese.

Disneyland at Brindavan Gardens

Will our Planners re-examine the Project?

Sir,

The recent news items about converting Brindavan Gardens on the lines of Disneyland is really troublesome to say the least. I am putting forward my views about the futility of the whole Disneyland Project idea.

1. Heritage: Alyia Krumbiegel has been shouting from top of her voice the efforts put in by her great grandfather in building of Brindavan Gardens. Maharaja had appointed Gustav Hermann Krumbiegel to plan and design it. Meticulous planning and construction has gone into the making of the Garden. It was one of the places that the Maharaja took pride in. At one point of time, the Garden was one of the premier places to visit not only in the State but one in the country. It should be considered as a heritage structure and not to be meddled with. Just like Taj Mahal, this is a marvellous place to visit and also to preserve.

2. Ecosystem: As such ecological consideration was made for the planning and construction of the Garden. But now to alter it to a Disneyland kind of structure is very much likely to harm the flora and fauna around that place. So many birds from many countries are regular visitors of the nearby Ranganathittu. The visits from these birds also will get affected and may be we would lose these visitors for ever.

3. Approach: If one is building such a wonderful place as Disneyland, the approach to that place should be good and easily accessible for people. It is not easy to reach the Brindavan Gardens with the present road conditions. Most of the time they are not motorable. Besides there are so many fields around that place so it is difficult to widen them without harming the cultivation/ fertile lands.

4. Pricing: The planners seem not to be aware of the Disneyland tickets. It is around 200 dollars which comes to about Rs.14,000 at the present rate of exchange. Do the planners have the heart to charge that amount from the public? Do our planners have the wherewithal to hire staff and keep it clean as it happens in Disneyland? It is not long before the planners blame the public by saying the public make it dirty.

But in our country planners have always passed on the blame on to the public be it roads or public places or even the economy. One must understand that Disneyland is kept clean at all times because they hire so much of staff who do a clean job. The supervisors also do their job well. And new technologies are used to make the place attractive, tidy and people-friendly.

5. Parking: Even for Dasara celebrations people had a hard time to park when they visited Brindavan Gardens. If the planners are thinking of Disneyland kind of monument, the need for parking will be even greater. Once again the area around the proposed place consists of fertile land so we will be jeopardising the already depleted lands for farming.

6. Cost of the Monument: Do we need to spend so much money on this project? When our farmers are committing suicide for their pathetic condition, our planners want to spend Rs.2,000 crores on this project.

The bottom line: If the planners insist upon a Disneyland kind of monument to be made during their tenure, please do not meddle with the existing Brindavan Gardens.

Only four survivors in Pandavapura bus accident

Mandya Police form two special teams to nab driver, conductor and owner of the ill-fated bus

Pandavapura, Nov.25 (Nagaiah&BCT)- There are only four survivors in yesterday's bus tragedy at Kanaganamaradi in Pandavapura taluk. Of the survivors are 14-year-old Rohith and his co-passenger Girish, the bus driver Shivappa and conductor whose identity has not been revealed.

The private bus, which was on its way from Pandavapura to Mandya, fell into the Visvesvaraya Canal at Pandavapura killing 30 people including school children, women and an infant. According to Police, the body of a two-year-old child was fished out, around two km from the incident spot.

The 18-year-old bus (KA-19 A-5676) with 34 people, including the driver and the conductor, came hurtling down and fell into the canal when the steering rod of the bus broke and the driver lost control of the vehicle.

As the bus reached the edge of the canal, the driver and conductor managed to jump from the vehicle and fled from the spot. Two passengers — Girish and Rohith — managed to wriggle out of the emergency door.

The villagers had a tough time fishing out the bodies as the bus was fully submerged in the 19-ft-deep water. Manjunath, a resident, said that they alerted the local authorities who stopped the water into the canal. The bus was lifted out with the help of a crane after the water receded.

Survivors recount tragedy

Twenty-six-year-old Girish, who works as a carpenter in Nagamangala and 14-year-old Rohith alias Karthik are shocked. "I was going to Mandya to meet a friend. I was shocked when the speeding bus veered towards left and fell into the canal nearby," said Girish. "I was in a shock but managed to break the window and come out of the sinking bus," he added.

As he was getting out of the sinking bus, Girish noticed Rohith in his white school uniform, who was also by a window, seeking help. Acting quickly, he and some other locals who had gathered by then helped Rohith to safety.

Girish said the passengers had no option to escape as the water flow in the canal was high. "The bus went into the canal directly. There were nearly eight school students in the bus, but I could pick only Rohith," he said.

More than 15,000 people had gathered at the accident spot at Kanaganamaradi village yesterday.

Survivor Rohith alias Karthik

Rohith, a Class 6 student, who had lost his father and mother, is yet to come to terms with the loss. He is being taken care of by his aunt. "I am sad that I could not save my friends," he regretted.

Rohith, along with his school friends — Preethi, Ravikumar and Prashanth — boarded the bus after finishing classes at Kanaganamaradi. They were travelling to Vadesamudra, nearly a five-minute drive from the accident spot. "All the passengers were screaming for help. My friends died on the spot. We could not save them," said Rohith.

Mandya Police have formed two special teams to nab the driver and owner of the bus. The driver of the bus, Shivappa, a resident of Holalu village in Mandya taluk, absconded soon after the accident, said Mandya Superintendent of Police Shivaprakash Devaraj. Meanwhile, the villagers have demanded that the road be asphalted and barricades be erected along curves and dangerous spots to avert such tragedies in future.

CM visits spot, announces compensation, orders probe

Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy cancelled all his programmes and dashed to the village yesterday where he announced Rs.5 lakh compensation and ordered a probe into the accident. Mandya District Minister C.S. Puttaraju and Transport Minister D.C. Thammanna rushed to spot and saw that the dead bodies were fished out.

Hearing about the tragedy from the relatives of the victim, the CM was left in tears when a woman narrated that her family lost the only bread-winner in the accident. Former CM Siddharamaiah too visited the accident spot and consoled the family.

The villagers raised slogans against the Transport Minister and the Government and pressed for withdrawal of private buses and demanded that KSRTC buses be operated.

A woman seen in a state of shock after losing her loved ones in the accident.

Mandya buses involved
in accidents had poor track record

Mandya, Nov.25 (Nagaiah& DM)- The private bus named 'Rajkumar' which plunged into Visvesvaraya Canal at Kanaganamaradi in Pandavapura taluk of the district, cutting short the lives of 30 passengers, was a 18-year old bus, which had outlived its road fitness.

The bus, having Mangaluru registration, operated for 15 years on Mangaluru-Udupi, changing ownership 8 times in this span, before it was ultimately sold to a person in Mandya.

The bus was registered in Mangaluru (KA-19 A-5676) 18 years ago. After 15 years of completion of service, the then owner of the bus had sold it to one Shankar of Mandya. But Shankar is said to have sold the bus to another person by name Srinivas, also of Mandya about a month ago and it is not known whether bus records were transferred to the name of Srinivas.

Incidentally, Shankar who sold the bus to Srinivas, died 10 days ago and the 11th day ceremony was scheduled for today (Nov.25), it is learnt.

Meanwhile, one J. Shivalingegowda of Kanaganamaradi has lodged a complaint with the Pandavapura Police on the bus accident, in which 30 people lost their lives. Shivalingegowda, in his complaint, has blamed over-speeding and negligence of the driver for the accident.

Mandya has a record of ghastly mishaps

Yesterday's accident is the latest addition to major accidents across Mandya district over the past four decades. In 1974, a private bus by name 'Chamundi' fell into Visvesvaraya Canal near Dudda, in which 15 people including the bus driver had lost their lives.

The bus was ferrying passengers from Jakkanahalli to Mandya, when it plunged into the Canal and the bus was lifted from the Canal using a military crane after a day.

In 2008, about 50 people lost their lives when a private bus plunged into a lake at Kalkuni in Malavalli taluk. However, eight passengers of the bus including the driver, had swam to safety.

In the last mishap, five persons were killed when a lorry, allegedly driven by a drunk driver, ran over them on Mandya-Guttalu Road a couple of months ago.

In Oct. 2017, 14 persons of a marriage party were killed when a tempo carrying them rammed into a roadside tree near Machahalli in Maddur taluk. While 10 of them died on the spot, four others died in the hospital later on.

Apart from these, many fatal accidents have occurred across Mandya in the past few years, in which several people lost their lives.

Second such tragedy for Pandavapura

Saturday's tragedy at Kanaganamaradi was the second major watery grave incident that has hit Pandavapura taluk in a span of eight years.

On Dec.14, 2010, a total of 31 persons including 26 women, four children and a man, all from different villages in Pandavapura taluks, lost their lives when a maxi-cab in which they were travelling plunged into Undabatti Lake on Mysuru-Nanjangud Road. All the victims, most of them from Sitapura and Aralakuppa villages in Pandavapura taluks, were returning to their village after attending a wedding lunch at Nanjangud.

The maxi-cab was over crowded with over 35 passengers on board. The driver and cleaner of the maxi-cab had fled from the spot soon after the mishap. The ghastly mishap was said to have occurred when the maxi-cab driver tried to over take a vehicle on the curved stretch of the road along the Undabatti Lake.

Bus was declared 'not road worthy' two years ago

The ill-fated bus, which plunged into the canal near Kanaganamaradi village in Mandya district, was declared "not road worthy" by the Dakshina Kannada Regional Transport Authority two years ago.

In 2016, the Mangaluru district authorities had cancelled the Certificate of Fitness (FC) and stage carriage permit of the bus bearing registration number KA-19 A-5676 since the vehicle was more than 15 years old.

According to the Mandya RTO office, one Srinivas, a resident of Bandigowda Layout, is the current owner of the bus. The bus was originally registered on June 1, 2001, in the Mangaluru RTO Division. It had started operating between Mandya and Pandavapura, three years ago. The vehicle owner had the fitness certificate of the vehicle valid till May 15, 2019. The bus was also insured till May 15, 2019.

The wonder tree of herbal medicine

Trees have been an important source of medicines. Several parts of innumerable trees have been in use in folklore and traditional medicines from the days of yore and form part of Indian medicinal systems. In reference 'Vibhitakah' known as 'Thare mara' in Kannada is one of the sought after medicinal trees. Named after "Vibheetaki," its fruit, it is supposed to take away the fear of disease.

'Vibhitakah' is believed to be the abode of "Lord Shani" and planted in the premises of Shaneeshwara temples all over South India. The tree has ornamental value too and used in urban plantations. Interestingly, it is one of the common trees in Mysuru and dots many parks and avenues. It is called Belliric myrobalan, Bastard myrobalan, Beach almond, Bedda nut tree in English; Hindi: Bahera, Baheda, Bhutvaas; Kannada: taarekaayi, shanthikayi; Malayalam: Thani, Thaani, Thanri; Tamil: Thani, Todikai; Telugu: Tanikaya, Taadi, Tandrachettu; Sanskrit: Akshah, Bahuvirya, Bibhitaka, Karshah, Karshphal. Its scientific name is Terminalia bellirica belonging to the family Combretaceae and a close associate of myrobalan (Alalekayi). It is a native tree found all over India (except Jammu & Kashmir, Himachal Pradesh, Sikkim, Arunachal Pradesh) in semi-evergreen and moist deciduous forests as well as plains. It is common throughout Karnataka, Kerala and Tamil Nadu.

My association with this tree dates back to 80s when I surveyed Bastar region for "tanniferous plants" used for leather making, with the support of Bihar Forest Department, when I was with Botany lab of CSIR-CLRI, Chennai. It was a frightening experience as the survey crisscrossed the Naxal areas! It is spine chilling if I recall now!

Terminalia bellerica is a forest tree brought to urban plantations. It is a tall handsome tree with a characteristic brownish grey bark with shallow longitudinal fissures and peelings, attaining a height of 50 - 60 ft. in elevations up to 3,500 ft. The trunk is cylindrical with horizontally spreading branches and terete branchlets (cylindrical without ridges). Leaves simple, opposite or alternate, often clustered at the tip of branchlets and the arrangement is technically called 'fascicle.' They are 4 – 8" long, 3 – 6" wide with prominent scars on a stout leaf stalk, slightly grooved above. The shape is elliptic or elliptic obovate with pointed or rounded tips, entire & leathery to touch with characteristic vasculature with 7-10 pairs of prominent lateral nerves. Inflorescence in leaf axils is botanically known as 'spikes' (flowers attached to the axis without stalks) with greenish yellow blossoms. Flowers at the upper end are male while lower ones are bisexual. Ovary 1-celled; stamens 3-4 mm long. Fruit is obovoid 1-celled, covered with minute hairs, stone (seed) very thick, often indistinctly 5 angled. Two varieties of T. bellerica are found in India, one with nearly globular fruit, small in size; another with ovate and much larger fruit.

MYTHOLOGICAL FACTS

The tree is considered sacred and is never cut down because of the belief that the deity Shaneeshwara resides in it. Hindus of Northern India avoid sitting under its shade believing that the tree is inhabited by demons. According to epic poem Mahabharata and Rigveda book 10 hymn 34a (Wikipedia) a handful of nuts with five flatter sides were used as casting on a gaming board and the players had to call odd or even number of nuts thrown. King Rituparna who features in the story of Nala had the ability to count the nuts on an entire bough of Vibhitakah tree.

WHERE TO SEE

Shani temples, lake areas of Lingambudhi, Kukkarahalli and many parks.

TREE FACTS

USEFUL TIPS

- The tree grows on a variety of soils but thrives best in clay and sandy soil.
- It is most suitable for parks, nature parks, gardens and big avenues.
- Bibhitaki (fruit) is a natural remedy for many ailments. Many products are available in drug stores. However, powder is the most common and can be prepared even at home: remove the seeds, sun-dry the pulp and blend in a grinder. Store in an air tight bottle.
- The powder fried in ghee acts as an immunity booster and believed to increase longevity.
- For constipation the powder is used with water.
- A mixture of Bibhitaki and Brahmi is useful for comfortable sleep.
- A mixture of Bibhitaki, Pippali and Black Pepper is good for lungs and high Kapha.
- A mixture of Gokshura, Coriander and Manjistha with Bibhitaki is useful in controlling burning sensation while passing urine.
- Bibhitaki Paste is the best remedy for skin allergies caused by earring and nose ring besides acne and ulcers. Rub bibhitaki on sandalwood stone with boiled water to get light green colour paste. Apply on the infected skin.
- Bibhitaki is a very useful remedy for hair fall in the form of Bibhitaki herbal oil.
- Overdose may cause nausea, vomiting and loose motion. Avoid using during pregnancy and breast feeding as it is a myocardial depressant.
- Consult an authorised doctor practising Indian system of medicine before using any product.

Wild animals eat the fruits (kernels).

USES

The tree is a power house of herbal medicines with innumerable curative and therapeutic properties and bears the Sanskrit tag "Anila-ghnaka" (wind-killing). The plant parts are rich in alkaloids, triterpenoids, coumarins, flavones, polyphenols, tannins, glycosides, saponins, belleric acid, β-sitosterol etc. Infusions are bitter, acrid, astringent, laxative, antibacterial and antipyretic. In Ayurvedic parlance it has Rasa (Taste): Astringent, Virya (Potency): Warm, Vipaka (Post Digestive Effect): Sweet with unique property of balancing Tridosha. Nonetheless, fruit 'Bibhitaki' is the main ingredient for drug formulations especially 'Triphala' the wonder drug (rasayana) in ayurvedic medicine. In reality, it is a herbal formulation of three fruits (amla, belleric and chebulic myrobalan) rich in antioxidant, used for treating many health disorders. The fruit also finds use in treating cough, throat and chest infections, dysenteric-diarrhoea, dropsy, skin allergies etc. In folklore, the paste of the bark is used to cure paralysis. The kernel is chewed with betel nut as substitute for arecanut ; also used by some tribes for its mind-altering qualities. Fruits are used in tanning.

PROPAGATION

The saplings can easily be raised by sowing seeds. Germination begins after 2 weeks. De-pulping and soaking in cold water for 48 hours ensures maximum germination and overcomes slow germination. Transplant 1-year-old seedlings to pits.

Kannada film world loses its 'Rebel Star'

M.H. Ambarish [May 27, 1952 - Nov.24, 2018]

Mandya/ Bengaluru, Nov.25 (OSR)- Actor and politician M.H. Ambarish, who passed away in Bengaluru last night, was Kannada cinema's most popular actor after Dr. Rajkumar and Dr. Vishnuvardhan. He was also the only one, of the three, who took a successful shot at electoral politics. Co-incidentally, Ambarish's brother Dr. Harish passed away on the same day last year, November 24, 2017.

Ambarish was the quintessential angry young man of Kannada cinema, and called 'rebel star' by his large fan base. But his 206 films showcased his acting potential that surpassed the action-hero image. His last film 'Ambi Ning Vayassaytho' was released in September 2018.

Malavalli Huchhegowda Amarnath was born on May 27, 1952 into an illustrious Mysuru family of renowned violinist T. Chowdiah in 1952, took the name Ambarish as he debuted in 'Nagarahavu' in 1972. He started playing supporting roles and slowly graduated to lead roles.

Love of flamboyance

Unlike Dr. Rajkumar and Dr. Vishnuvardhan, who thought of themselves as middle-class role models, Ambarish lived it up in full public view, making no secret of his love of flamboyance and that included horse racing.

Ambarish became a sensation with his very first film, Nagarahavu (1972). He owes his debut success to Puttanna Kanagal, the famous director with an unerring finger on the pulse on the Kannada audience. Nagarahavu was the first Kannada film to run for 100 days in the theatres.

Angry young man

As Jaleel, the wayward Romeo who gets beaten up for harassing the heroine, Ambarish established a powerful screen presence. The film catapulted both hero Vishnuvardhan and villain Ambarish to stardom, and their friendship, like their careers, endured. Ambarish was cast in many films in angry, anti-establishment roles, earning title of 'rebel star.' The most popular in this series was Antha (1981), in which he played an upright Policeman. The same year, he delivered perhaps his most mature performance in Ranganayaki, a Puttanna Kanagal film again.

Not many of his younger fans know about his connection with T. Chowdiah, the violin legend. Chowdiah was his grandfather's brother. Whenever he was asked why he hadn't taken to classical music like Chowdiah, he had a candid answer: "He told us not to as he was afraid we would ruin his name!" But Ambarish did get to play a classical vocalist on screen, in a Malayalam film called Gaanam.

A go-to man

Ambarish was called 'Appaji' in Kannada, which means 'Dad', by most of the Sandalwood stars and was always a highly respected man. He was awarded the State Best Actor award for 'Antha.' Ambarish married multilingual actor Sumalatha in 1991. Ambarish was also the go-to man in the Kannada film industry. He filled the vacuum left by legendary actor Dr. Rajkumar to lead the industry in the last decade and a half.

Ambarish was considered a 'strong rock' of Kannada film industry as he was believed to be the only man who could stop internal 'star-war' in Sandalwood. After his demise, Sandalwood lost a dependable negotiator. He was indeed a 'trouble-shooter' of the Kannada film industry and often tried to sort out issues in other south Indian film industries.

He did not shy away from colourful language. In recent years, even Kannada film industry considered him a patriarch, and sought his intervention when faced with tricky problems, such as the #MeToo row between Shruti Hariharan and Arjun Sarja.

A force to reckon with in Vokkaliga heartland

Mandya/Bengaluru, Nov. 25 (OSR)- Ambarish won three Parliamentary elections. He was a Central Minister for a while, holding the portfolio of Information and Broadcasting for about two years. He later became Housing Minister in the Siddharamaiah Cabinet in Karnataka. When he was dropped from the Cabinet in 2016 for poor performance, a miffed Ambarish resigned.

Ambarish considered himself a force to reckon with in the Vokkaliga heartland of Mandya. So did the Congress. However, his poor health forced him to stay away from politics for the past several months. "You think I can't influence an election sitting at home," he had asked, in his inimitable slapstick humour. At one point, Ambarish was touted as a Chief Ministerial candidate.

"I have the capacity to get 5% votes in all of Karnataka, not just in Mandya. But I'm already 66 and I can't work for another five years. I'm not like H.D. Deve Gowda who is in Kanyakumari one day, Delhi the next day and then Raichur." This was a news conference Ambarish addressed just before the May 12 Assembly election to announce his retirement from electoral politics. The Congress went on to lose the Mandya Assembly constituency after the party chose not to field him.

AMBARISH'S POLITICAL JOURNEY

- 1997 - Contests Ramanagaram Assembly by-poll on Janata Dal ticket, loses.
- 1998 - Wins Mandya Lok Sabha election on Janata Dal ticket.
- 1999 - Wins Mandya Lok Sabha election on Congress ticket.
- 2004 - Wins Mandya Lok Sabha election on Congress ticket.
- 2008 - Loses Srirangapatna Assembly election on Congress ticket.
- 2009 - Loses Mandya Lok Sabha election on Congress ticket.
- 2013 - Wins Mandya Assembly election on Congress ticket.

Ambarish, a Vokkaliga, was at the peak of his film career when H.D. Deve Gowda launched him politically. It was the by-elections to the Ramanagaram Assembly segment in 1997, which Deve Gowda vacated after he became the Prime Minister.

Ambarish, who distanced himself from active politics during the 2018 Legislative Assembly elections, was a politician who fought hard on issues affecting the State. He was a member of the Assembly from 2013 to 2018. Though the party had given him 'B' Form to contest the 2018 Assembly elections, Ambarish did not contest from the Mandya Assembly constituency, citing health issues.

True to his 'rebel star' style, Ambarish was an avid racer and active member of the Bangalore Turf Club (BTC) and Mysore Race Club (MRC). He opposed his Government's move to relocate the BTC saying racing is not gambling, and hundreds of families would lose their livelihood if it is moved out of the city.

Ambarish questioned the motive behind the move to relocate the Club. Noting that even in New Delhi, the Prime Minister's official residence (7 Race Course Road) is very close to the Delhi Race Course, he opposed relocation of the BTC.

Ambarish was the last man standing in terms of Vokkaliga leadership in Congress after former CM S.M. Krishna left the party and joined BJP. Even though D.K. Shivakumar, another prominent leader from Vokkaliga basin is with Congress, Ambarish's blow was massively felt in Karnataka Congress.

Ambarish fans block roads in Mandya; DC imposes Sec. 144

Hundreds of fans of the late actor Ambarish blocked roads in Mandya as they demanded the mortal remains be brought to Mandya to be cremated at Ambarish's native place. Shops and business establishments voluntarily downed shutters this morning as a mark of respect to the departed leader.

The funeral will be held on Nov. 26 (tomorrow) near Dr Rajkumar Smaraka at Kanteerava Studio in Bengaluru with full State honours, Karnataka Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy announced. Also, as a mark of respect, the State Government has declared an official mourning of three days.

Ambarish, also a member of Mysore Race Club (MRC), was the recipient of the national award for his debut film Nagarahavu in 1972 and earned the nickname of 'rebel star' over the years especially after the movie Chakravyooha.

FANS BLOCK ROADS

Following the death, thousands of Ambarish's fans assembled at various junctions in Mandya and demanded that the body should be brought to Mandya and cremated at Doddarasinakere in Maddur Taluk where Ambarish was born. They blocked several roads including Sanjay Circle, R.P. Road, and V.V. Road. As a precaution, the Mandya DC N. Manjushree has imposed Section 144 (ban orders) from 6 am today till 6 am on Nov. 26 to prevent law and order breakdown.

There was confusion between fans and family members of Ambarish over performing the last rites. While fans wanted the final rites to be conducted at Doddarasinakere, his family wanted the funeral to be held in Bengaluru. However, CM Kumaraswamy said that after consulting with Ambarish's family as well as the film industry, it was decided that the funeral will be performed in Bengaluru.

BODY TO BE AIRLIFTED

To pacify the agitated fans who learnt that the funeral will be conducted in Bengaluru, the CM agreed to airlift the body to Mandya and keep at Sir Visvesvaraya Stadium for public to pay their last respects till tomorrow at 6 am. Ambarish's body will be flown by a special Indian Air Force helicopter to Mandya. As a precaution, the Mandya DC has banned the sale of liquor till midnight on Nov. 26 (tomorrow).

CM Kumaraswamy has requested people of Mandya not to pressurise the government to hold the funeral of Ambarish at Mandya. As the Defence Ministry approved the request of Karnataka government to provide a chopper to take the mortal remains to Mandya, arrangements are underway. The body will reach Visvesvaraya Stadium in Mandya around 5.30 pm. It will be brought back to Bengaluru tomorrow morning.

SANDALWOOD SHUTS FOR A DAY

In the wake of sudden demise of film star turned politician Ambarish, Kannada film industry, popularly known as Sandalwood, has declared a holiday for all industry activities. No film screening or film shooting will take place today in order to allow industry persons to participate in the final rituals of the late actor.

CONDOLENCES POUR IN

Several political leaders and actors arrived at the Kanteerava Stadium to pay Ambarish their last respects. Mega Star Chiranjeevi, Superstar Rajinikanth, actors Sudeep, Shivrajkumar, Yash and Rockline Venkatesh reached the Kanteerava Stadium in the morning.

Superstar Rajinikanth was a close companion of the late actor. He took to his social media handle to express his sadness. The duo has acted together in several Tamil and Kannada movies - Priya (Tamil), Thai Meethu Sathiyam (Tamil), Killadi Kittu (Kannada) to name a few.

Meanwhile, condolences continue to pour in. Prime Minister Narendra Modi expressed his condolences. "Shri Ambareesh will always be remembered for his memorable performances as an actor and extensive contribution to politics. He was a strong voice for Karnataka's welfare, at the state and central level. Pained by his demise. Condolences to his family and admirers," Modi tweeted.

HIGH ALERT IN MANDYA

A high alert has been sounded in Mandya following the death of Ambarish. Additional Police forces (400 from Mysuru) have been sent to Mandya where Ambarish had a huge fan following. According to sources, there is still a possibility of fans taking the extreme step and all the precautionary measures are in place to deal with any eventualities.

As the news spread, scores of his followers took to streets in Mandya to express their grief over the demise of their leader. Two hours before his death, Ambarish had expressed his shock over phone to a TV channel over the Kanaganamaradi the bus accident which claimed the lives of 30 people.

Sir Visvesvaraya Stadium in Mandya being readied this morning for the public to pay their last respects to the late actor. More than a thousand Policemen have been deputed in Mandya to prevent a law and order situation. The mortal remains will be kept here till tomorrow morning after which it will be taken to Bengaluru for cremation.

Mahabhishekha performed to iconic Nandi statue

Special pujas performed on account of Karthika Masa celebrations, prasadam distributed to 7,000 devotees

Mysuru, Nov. 25 (RKB&SR)- The iconic Nandi statue atop Chamundi Hill was the cynosure of all eyes of the visitors today morning as the members of Bettada Balaga Charitable Trust performed Mahabhishekha to the statue.

This is for the 13th year the members of the Trust conducted the Mahabhishekha for the statute on account of Third Karthika Masa celebrations. A large number of devotees thronged the Nandi statue since morning to witness the annual spectacle organised by the members of the Trust who regularly climb the hill steps.

The statue, which underwent a 'special' cleaning recently, was bathed in 36 items like milk, curd, ghee, honey, sugar, vibhuthi, sandalwood paste, turmeric, kumkum, flowers, bilwa leaves, grapes, banana, sugarcane juice, dates, lime juice and ashtagandha, which was performed from an elevated platform.

This monolithic statue of Nandi is a major tourist attraction atop Chamundi Hill. The statue, reckoned to be at least 350 years old, was sculpted during the period of Dodda Devaraja Wadiyar who ruled from 1659 to 1673 and is the only one of its kind in the State. The statue is 3,489 ft above sea level.

Though Nandi is found adorning Shiva temples, this is one of the few standalone statues, measuring about 15 ft in height and 24 ft in width and carved out of a single boulder.

The practice of performing 'abhisheka' to Nandi was rejuvenated about 13 years ago with regular climbers of the hill reviving the tradition which was said to be in vogue during the era of the Wadiyars. The abhisheka was also performed using fruits, flowers and other ingredients.

Many tourists from Tamil Nadu, Kerala, Andhra Pradesh, Telangana who visited the Chamundeshwari Temple at the hilltop, drove straight to the Nandi statue after learning about the event. The statue was decorated with flowers after the 'abhisheka' and a special puja was performed.

The annual ritual was performed by more than two dozen temple priests led by Shadakshari Purohith and Nandi Purohith Parashiva in the presence of Suttur Seer Sri Shivarathri Deshikendra Swamiji, Sri Hosamut's Sri Chidananda Swamiji, Adichunchanagiri Shaka Mutt Seer Sri Somanatha Swamiji and Mysore Royal family titular head Yaduveer Krishnadutta Chamaraja Wadiyar .

PRASADAM TO 7,000 DEVOTEES

It may be recalled, the members of the Chamundi Betta Mettilu Hattuva Balaga had performed a similar abhisheka to the statue on Nov. 12 on the first Monday of Kartika Masa. Today, the members of the trust distributed prasadam like bisibele bath, sweet pongal, curd rice and laddu to more than 7,000 devotees.

The Police Department provided security by deploying Police personnel and had diverted traffic to ease the traffic congestion enroute to temple. Interestingly, local Muslim Industrialist Rafeeq donated 150 litres milk to perform abhisheka. 300 litres of milk and curd was used apart from other items for the abhisheka.

Speaking to presspersons, Beettada Balaga Charitable Trust Treasurer V.N. Sundar said that the members of the trust has been conducting this ritual praying for good rains, for peace, progress and public welfare in the society. There are 130 members in the Trust. A total of Rs. 7 lakh was spent for this ritual in which the members of the trust have alone funded Rs. 4 lakh, while the remaining Rs. 3 lakh was collected from donors, he said.

Bettada Balaga Charitable Trust, President S.Prakash, Secretary N. Govind, Trustee Shivakumar, Shankar, Ramesh, Basavaraju, Kanya Shivamurthy and others were present.

Pramoda Devi Wadiyar condoles Ambi's death

Mysuru, Nov. 25 (US&RK)- "Ambarish was a good friend of our family and we are deeply hurt on learning of his demise," said Pramoda Devi Wadiyar of the Royal Family.

Addressing a press meet at her residence in Palace premises here this morning, Pramoda Devi said "Ambarish used to meet my husband when the latter was an MP and jocularly suggest him to become more tough as a politician.

He was regularly visiting us on Vijayadashami day and was eager to see my husband in Maharaja attire holding the 'Pattada Katthi'. I had met him in a hotel recently. He had no air of supremacy and was very affable. He was keen on someone from my family to enter politics which I always denied. Ambarish's death is a great loss to his family and fans. I pray God to give courage to his family members to bear the loss."

Majestic and sublime

Veteran musician Bellary Raghavendra gave a vocal recital on the 27th of October with Mysore Nagaraj on violin, Tumkur B. Ravishankar on mridanga and Guruprasanna on kanjira. The programme was organised by Sri Nadabrahma Sangeetha Sabha in memory of Kuskur Brothers.

Raghavendra has a full voice which he uses to good effect across the octaves. One could easily recognise the genius of his recital in the innovative sangatis that he packed into each composition. He began the concert with the 'Vanajakshi' varna in Kalyani, which was presented well. The ornamentations that the vocalist chose to add to phrases were remarkable.

'Bhaja Manasa Vighneshwaram Anisham' by Tulasi Vanam in Bahudari was filled with bhava and suffixed with profound swaras.

The vocalist next traced Rasikapriya, not a very customary raga. His and Nagraj's foray into the raga was crisp but thorough. Dr. M. Balamurali Krishna's 'Pavana Tanaya palaya mam' is a charming composition on Lord Hanuman, which was presented with crystal clear clarity in Sahitya with proper intonations.

Varali was also taken up for Alapana elaboration. A striking feature of the Alapana was the gamaka-laden phrases that the raga demands both by the vocalist and the violinist. 'Sheshachala Nayakam Bhajami' by Deekshitar was decorated with neraval at 'Aravinda Patra nayanam Govindam Uraga shayanam' and interesting poruttam kalpana swaras.

Raghavendra kept the energy high throughout the concert. 'Raka Shashivadana' in Takka by Tyagaraja and Mysore Vasudevacharya's 'Bhajare Manasa' in Abheri were good fillers.

Shankarabharana, the main item of the evening, was majestic. Tyagaraja's composition 'Enduku Peddala' was magnific with a significant neraval at 'Veda Shastra Tatvarthamu Telisi' and sumptuous swaras. Tumkur Ravishankar's mridanga and Guruprasanna's kanjira deserve special mention.

Raghavendra closed the concert with Purandaradasa's 'Mareyabeda manave neenu Hariya smaraneya' which was sublime and 'Neene doddavanu' also by Purandaradasa.

Manusmriti still alive in different forms: Seer

Mysuru, Nov.25 (PM&DM)- Alleging that Manuvadis have kept alive 'Manusmriti' in the name of religion, caste, traditions etc., Sri Urilinga Peddi Mutt Seer Sri Jnanaprakash Swamiji has regretted the tendency to gain control over lower strata of the society through manipulative politics.

He was speaking after releasing writer Gangaram Chandala's work titled 'Prasthuta-Aprasthuta (Samvidhana-Manusmriti: Taulanika Adhyayana)' at a programme organised by Samaikya Publications at B.M. Shri auditorium in Kuvempu Institute of Kannada Studies (KIKS) premises, Manasagangotri, recently.

Regretting that Dr. B.R. Ambedkar-scripted Constitution is being used only for referring to words such as brotherhood, equality, social justice, harmony and the like, the Seer alleged that efforts were on to introduce Manu's ideologies across the country.

Asserting that 'Manusmiriti' was full of inequality, dirt, mantras, Veda-Upanishads etc., he said that Ambedkar's Constitution advocates human values, democratic principles and equality.

Criticising the Pejawar Mutt Seer for his alleged remarks that following age-old traditions was more important than the Constitution, Sri Jnanaprakash Swamiji said that the 2019 Lok Sabha election would be a battle between 'Manusmriti' and Dr. Ambedkar's Indian Constitution.

KIKS Director Prof. Neelagiri N. Talwar, activist N. Diwakar, author Gangaram Chandala, Dr. B.R. Ambedkar Studies Centre faculty T. Padmashri and others were present.

Questions raised on how ill-fated bus was issued Fitness Certificate by RTO

Mandya, Nov.25 (SBD&YDS)- Yesterday's tragedy at Kanaganamaradi in Pandavapura taluk, has once again brought to the fore the issue of RTOs issuing Fitness Certificates to vehicles which are too old or unfit to ply on roads. With 30 people losing their lives in Saturday's tragedy, people are blaming the RTO officials for issuing Fitness Certificate to the ill-fated bus without bothering to check its fitness to ply on roads. Meanwhile, the Government is said to have suspended the RTO Official who issued the Fitness Certificate to Mangaluru registered 'Rajakumar' bus, which plunged into the canal, killing 30 passengers, who also included children who were retuning to their village from school.

MASS FUNERAL: Heart-rending scenes were witnessed at Vadesamudra in Pandavapura taluk where the last rites of eight persons who died in yesterday's bus accident were held this morning. The rest of the bodies were cremated at their respective villages.

Private buses rule the Pandavapura-Mandya route: Private buses are the major means of transport for villagers travelling on Pandavapura-Mandya route, as only one KSRTC bus plies on this route in a day.

Hundreds of Villages from Kanaganamaradi, Vadesamudra, Hulikere, Machalli, VC Farm and other villages depend on private bus for travelling to Mandya and Pandavapura. Although three to four KSRTC buses plied between Pandavapura and Mandya when K.S. Puttannaiah was the MLA, these buses were said to have been stopped due to poor collection. Then there were allegations that KSRTC officials had buckled under pressure from private bus operators, who wanted to have monopoly on this route.

The private bus operators, taking advantage of the situation, plied old and unfit buses on this route. Now yesterday's tragedy should wake up the sleeping officials and the officials should act to ensure that such accidents do not occur in the future.

RTO suspended: Chief Minister H.D. Kumaraswamy visited the accident spot and consoled the family members of the victims. Upon coming to know that the bus was old and unfit to ply, Kumaraswamy ordered the suspension of Mandya RTO for having issued Fitness Certificate to the bus in violation of rules.

Even as the bus plunged into the Visvesvaraya Canal, the driver and cleaner of the bus managed to jump from the bus in time and fled from the spot.

Shivalingegowda of Kanaganamaradi, who has lodged a complaint with the Pandavapura Police, has blamed over speeding and negligence on the part of the driver for the accident, that took the lives of 30 passengers.

Following the complaint, the Police have booked the bus driver under sections 279, 337, 304(A) of IPC readwith (R/W) section 187 of Indian Motor Vehicles (IMV) Act.

Advocate T.A. Prabhakar of Mysuru said that as per the provisions of these sections, the bus driver can be sentenced up to three years and three months of imprisonment or can be imposed a monetary penalty or even both, if the driver is found guilty of the charges, once the Police after investigation, submits charge-sheet against the driver in the Court.

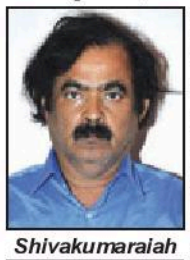
While section 279 relates to rash and negligent driving that attracts a 6-month jail term or penalty or both, section 337 relates to rash and negligent driving that causes injuries to a person / persons, attracting a 6-month jail term or a penalty or both, section 304(A) relates to rash and negligent driving that causes death of a person / persons attracting two year jail term along with a huge sum as penalty.

Section 187 of IMV Act relates to the responsibility of the driver. The act states that the driver should come to the rescue of persons / passengers injured in a mishap and shift them immediately to a nearby hospital and inform the matter to the nearest Police Station. The driver can be sentenced to 3-month imprisonment or penalised or both, if found guilty of violating the Act. Also the driver can be booked under hit-and-run case if he/ she fled from the spot without bothering to take care of the injured, advocate Prabhakar said.

Civil Cop exam postponed as question paper leaks; Master leaker arrested in Kodagu

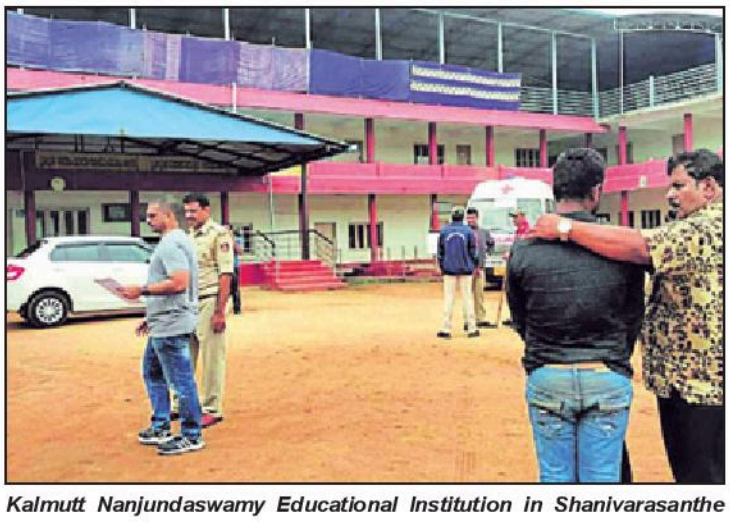
Police arrest 116 aspirants, seize four mini-buses and a car

Bengaluru, Nov.25- The Central Crime Branch (CCB) sleuths raided Kalmutt Nanjundaswamy Educational Institution in Shanivarasanthe of Somwarpet taluk of Kodagu district on wee hours of yesterday and arrested 116 Civil Police Constable aspirants and main accused in connection with selling question papers and answer scripts for the upcoming Civil Constables written examination that was scheduled today at various centres across the State.



Shivakumaraiah

Following their arrest, the written exams for the post of 2,113 Civil Police Constables (both men and women) that was scheduled for Nov.25, has been cancelled. Postponed exam date will be informed later to candidates. They seized four mini-buses and an Innova car and Police arrested its drivers also.



Kalmutt Nanjundaswamy Educational Institution in Shanivarasanthe of Somwarpet taluk of Kodagu district where CCB Police arrested Shivakumaraiah.

The accused has been identified as Shivakumaraiah, who was also the kingpin in the PU question paper leak case of 2016 and was booked under the Karnataka Control of Crimes Act (KCOCA), 2000. He is a resident of Nandini Layout and is said to be retired Head Master of a BBMP-run school. A native of Gubbi in Tumakuru, he was arrested several times in the past in connection with question paper leaks.

Criminal cases were registered against him since 2008 at Police Stations such as New Extension Police Station and Gubbi Police Station in Tumakuru as also at Vijayanagar, Nandini Layout, Chandra Layout and Malleswaram Police Stations in Bengaluru. He was arrested in 2008, but managed to come out on bail. He is also involved in the leak of other question papers of SSLC, CET and KPSC, according to CID sources.

Claiming that he got the original question papers, Shivakumaraiah reportedly approached the 116 Police job aspirants and had them assembled at the Najundeshwara School premises.

On a tip off, CCB sleuths arrived to the spot and arrested the accused. Shivakumaraiah was brought to the city for interrogation, while his associate Basavaraju managed to escape. Police aspirants were ferried to the school in four mini-buses from various parts of the State. Shivakumaraiah and Basavaraju were selling the Civil Constable examination question paper along with answer scripts for Rs.6 lakh to 8 lakh to each of the candidates.

The duo had bought many mobile phone SIM cards using fake identity cards and created multiple social media accounts using fake names to communicate with the candidates. The sleuths said similar meetings were arranged for around 40 candidates in Tumakuru and around 40 candidates in Bengaluru.

Shivakumaraiah was involved in the PU question paper leak case, but even after that, he continues his criminal activities. "Shivakumaraiah said he stole the question paper. We are ascertaining the veracity of the question paper recovered from him. A detailed questioning of main accused and 116 aspirants mostly from North Karnataka who is said to have paid to the accused, is yet to be done which will throw more light about the incident," Police sources said.

CCB sleuths suspect that it could be the original question paper and they are not ruling out the possibility of insiders help.

An FIR has been registered by the CCB Police against Shivakumaraiah and others.

Widening: 255 trees to be axed on Bogadi Road

- Forest Department gives permission to cut trees at a Public hearing
- Two-lane road to be made four-lane

Mysuru, Nov.25 (MTY&SR)- Get ready for another round of mass tree-felling in the heritage city. The Forest Department has given permission to cut 255 trees to facilitate road-widening works of an 8.5-kilometre stretch from Bogadi Ring Road Junction to Kumarabeedu Junction. The existing two-lane road will be widened to a four-lane one by the Public Works Department.

The Tree Committee led by Asst. Conservator of Forest Kripanidhi, Range Forest Officers Devaraj and Govindaraj gave permission to cut trees at a public hearing on the issue held at Aranya Bhavan in city yesterday.

The hearing, held as per the rules prescribed in Karnataka Tree Conservation Act, was also attended by various environmentalists who had filed objections, residents of the area and stakeholders. While granting permission to cut trees, Forest officers directed the PWD to cut down trees on both sides of the road and plant equal number of trees in five-foot median to be developed on this stretch.

The PWD is upgrading this road into a four-lane highway at the cost of Rs.27.15 crore following the increase in vehicle density which has resulted in a number of accidents on this particular stretch. PWD has planned to develop 51-foot road and lay a five-foot median that will be planted with rare plants after road widening. Of the 255 permitted trees, the PWD has already axed 10 trees.

Interestingly, many families living on the road who have lost their loved ones in accidents on the stretch, attended the public hearing and demanded that the road should be widened to prevent further accidents. A few victims who have lost or maimed their legs and hands due to accidents also came to the hearing.

Among the trees that will be cut are 7 Jacaranda trees, 32 rain trees, 82 tamarind trees, 94 Seemethangadi trees, 11 Neem trees, 2 Hebbevu trees, 3 Peepal trees, 6 Acacia trees, one Kaadubaage tree and one Honne tree. Most of these trees provide good shade and have grown big over the years.

PWD Asst. Executive Engineer Raju informed the meeting that he took up the road-widening and upgrading of this road due to public demand and heavy increase in vehicular population. As many as 12,186 commercial vehicles including 7,000 commercial vans have been plying daily on this stretch according to census conducted by Road Transport and Police Department officials, he said.

To compensate the tree felling, the PWD had paid Rs.48.73 lakh to Forest Department to plant saplings on the median. The Department had paid Rs.1,911 to raise each sapling on the median.

Residents of Roopa Nagar including Vanishree, Dr. Purnima, Shailajesh and retired Professor of Veterinary University Dr. Srinivasaiah, filed objections for tree felling and demanded that road be widened without axing trees.

While residents of Kumarbeedu Chenna Naik, students Keerthi and Ravikumar, Dasanakoppal Venkatesh, Bogadi former Gram Panchayat President Jayakumar, GP Member and advocate Umesh, GP Member Garage Ravikumar and others favoured immediate road-widening works as delay is causing a lot of accidents.
